Description

RESERVED AUGUST 2025

This is a lovely, traditional, two floor village house, located in Barrida los Manas, near to Sorbas.

Sorbas is a thriving Spanish town, known for its pottery, and Karst caves, and due to its location, it offers sports and close access to the Fort Bravo attraction.

Access is via a private gateway, taking you into a private patio area, which is an ideal area to enjoy outside living as you have plenty of space including a small swimming pool.

From here you will reach your front door, which at times is surrounded by flowers.

This will take you into a good sized lounge area. This has a log burner and also a small bar area!

An archway from here will lead you to the kitchen area. This is a good size and offers you plenty of storage and white goods.

The kitchen is connected to the dining area via two arches.

Again, this is a lovely sized room and has doors taking you to a private courtyard area. A lovely area for al-fresco living and dining, with ample room for storage boxes and cupboards, always good to hide the clutter!

From the kitchen, you can also access a downstairs bathroom, which is large enough to incorporate a utility room. This room, also enjoys a shower.

Returning to the lounge, stairs will take you to the first floor. Here you will find all four bedrooms and a bathroom.

The first double bedroom, overlooks the front of the property and the views to the mountains and surrounding countryside areas.

There is a small closet area here.

The second bedroom is again a double and offers the same views.

Then through an archway to bedrooms three and four and also the bathroom.

The bedrooms are opposite each other, with one being a smaller twin bedroom.

From the twin bedroom, you have access to the upstairs terrace area, which is a good sized space and enjoying the aforementioned mountain and countryside views.

Parking is opposite the property.
